

Hungarian Air Force Threatens To Bomb Tanks

Cardinal Mindszenty Freed; Report He May Lead New Gov't

VIENNA (UP) — Planes of the Hungarian air force dropped leaflets over Budapest today threatening to bomb Soviet tanks if they do not leave the Hungarian capital immediately.

A United Press dispatch from Budapest reported the appearance of the Hungarian air force on the side of the rebels soon after Josef Cardinal Mindszenty returned to Budapest from eight years of Communist imprisonment.

There were reports Mindszenty might be called upon to lead a new non-Communist Hungarian government — the only public figure of sufficient stature to win the cooperation of the populace that turned against the Communist regime.

Excitement Sweeps Capital

A wave of excitement swept Budapest when the Communist controlled radio broadcast news of Mindszenty's return. But rumors he was seen driving through the city could not be confirmed by American newsmen there.

United Press correspondent Russell Jones reported today that some Soviet forces were still in Budapest and that partisans were hunting down the hated AVH — Hungarian secret police — who have tried to slip away disguised as postmen.

The radio also broadcast what it called a manifesto by the Hungarian revolutionaries demanding the complete withdrawal of all Soviet troops from Hungary by Dec. 31 on threat of driving them out by force of arms if they do not go home.

The Hungarian Communist regime already had declared "null and void" all charges against the imprisoned prime of the Catholic Church in Hungary and a Communist broadcast said there had not been the "slightest legal basis" for jailing him.

Pardon Decree By Nagy

Today's broadcast said he had been freed by revolutionary troops from a jail at Felsoepeteny about 60 miles northeast of Budapest and after discussing "important problems" with his liberators drove to his Budapest home.

Only a few hours before the current premier, Imre Nagy, issued a decree saying he had been "fully pardoned."

Cardinal Mindszenty apparently was making his way to a triumphal comeback in Budapest. And one of the two non-Communists in the present cabinet, Minister of State Zoltan Tildy, gave a strong hint the 67-year old churchman might be asked to take a major role in the government.

Labor Groups Favor Highway Through City, Price Says

"Labor organizations in Harrisburg are strongly in favor of building the proposed four-lane highway through the city," Guy Price, business agent of Retail Clerks Local 896, declared today.

Mr. Price stated he had talked with representatives of the various unions in Harrisburg and found strong backing for the four lane highway right through the center of Harrisburg.

Last week Harrisburg Mayor Claud Gibbons, members of the city council and others met in Carbondale with Illinois highway officials and were told a four-lane highway was included in state highway construction plans and would either follow Route 13 through the city, from East Poplar street at the intersection of Routes 13 and 45 west, or would bypass the city.

If the four-lane highway is built on Poplar street through town there would be no parking allowed in the business district on the highway.

The decision of telling highway officials where Harrisburg wants the state route—through town or to bypass the town—will be left to the people, Mayor Gibbons has stated.

Mr. Price stated that he had heard many business and professional people, in addition to the labor groups, express approval of building the highway through the city.

James R. Land Walks His Last 14 Miles as City Mail Carrier

James R. Land, better known as Jim Land, walked his last mile today as a mail carrier. In fact, he walked his last 14 miles because that's the length of his mail route.

And if you want Mr. Land to do some adding, he can tell you that he's walked 128,616 miles in the 33 years and 10 months as a Harrisburg city carrier. That's more than five times around the earth at the Equator.

Mr. Land is retiring five years earlier than the regular retirement age for postal employees and in doing this he must take a five per cent reduction on his retirement pay.

But although he's quitting as a member of the Harrisburg post office staff, he's going to keep working.

He'll go into training Nov. 6 for about three weeks and then will begin selling Golden Rule hospital insurance in Saline county.

Special Shoes, Socks
Mr. Land has had only two mail routes since he has been a carrier. For 14 years he put mail in boxes in the southeast corner of Harrisburg and Gaskins City. For the past 20 years he has been on the same beat in the south part of town.

When he first began delivering the mails, carries made two deliveries daily. The route then was nine miles long, which made 18 miles a day of walking. But for about the past several years the distance has been 14 miles for one trip daily five days a week.

Such a long day of walking requires a lot of attention to shoes and socks. "I get a cushion sole sock which lasts very well and they are changed every day," he said. "I wear a heavy army last shoe, low cuts in the summer and the higher shoes in the winter.

Delivery During Flood

"I wear out three pairs of shoes a year," he said, "but each pair is soled twice and has about four pairs of heels before the shoes are thrown away."

Mr. Land recalled the time nearly 20 years ago (doesn't time fly?) when Harrisburg got part of the 1937 flood.

"We kept a case at the post office for patrons we couldn't reach," he said, "and we delivered the rest."

"I'd get my mail, walk out Church street and get on a barge which took me to McKinley school. There I'd get off and serve the high spots on the route. I'd come back to town on the Main street barge."

Brother a Rural Carrier

Mr. Land emphasized several times his appreciation of the understanding and the courtesy of the people on his routes during the years he has served them.

"I hate to break loose but I know I'll be seeing these people from time to time," he said.

He remarked that John Denny is the only post office employee who was working there at the time he started. A brother of Mr. Land, Will C. Land, is a rural carrier at the post office.

Mr. Land, who lives with his wife at 114 West Park street, is the son of Freeman Land of this city. His interests include his church (he is a deacon of the First Baptist church), his seven grandchildren and fishing with his son-in-law, Glenn Butler.

Stevenson Charges Administration Dismissed Plan to Avert War

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson Tuesday night charged that the Eisenhower administration dismissed a plan advanced a year ago to head off war between Israel and Egypt.

Stevenson took his Democratic presidential campaign toward New York City today after voicing criticism of the Republican policy in the Middle East before 12,000 persons here Tuesday night.

He recalled that on Armistice Day last year, he pointed to the "danger of all-out war" between Israel and Egypt in a speech he delivered at Charlottesville, Va.

Stevenson said in that 1955 speech that the only way to avoid bloodshed was to keep the troops of the two nations "apart." He suggested the United Nations achieve this by having guards patrol "the areas of tension and collision."

"Needless to say," Stevenson told his Philadelphia listeners, "this program was dismissed by the administration, even as they are now dismissing my suggestion that we take prompt steps to stop the experimental explosion of hydrogen bombs."

Stevenson's address over a statewide television hookup from a field house on the U. of Pennsylvania campus capped the day in which he drew good crowds at Baltimore, Camden, N. J., and here.

He planned to take a train from Philadelphia today for New York City, where he was to speak at a midtown rally, a box lunch of Democratic ladies, and a meeting in Union Square. He will then fly to Pittsburgh for a statewide telecast tonight, his final Pennsylvania appearance.

Stevenson devoted most of his speech Tuesday night to an attack on the "phoneyess" of the Republican campaign, and on President Eisenhower as a "part-time" Chief Executive.

Skirts Health Question
Several times, Stevenson skirted the question of the President's health. First he said he had "no comment on the President's health or whether he should have sought reelection."

"But I do have strong views about the conduct of the office of the president," Stevenson said. "Even before his illness Mr. Eisenhower showed little inclination for the round-the-clock responsibilities of the most important... office on earth."

Stevenson listed a series of tense world situations when he said Mr. Eisenhower was away from Washington, playing golf or shooting quail.

President Will State Position On Middle-East

Report Will Be Given in Radio-Television Address

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower will state the U. S. position on the Middle East crisis tonight in a radio-television report to the people at 6 p. m. CST.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said, "The President will make a statement, including the American position, to the American people on the developing situation in the Middle East."

"It will be in the nature of a report — a non-political report," Hagerty said. The report, expected to take about 15 minutes, will be carried by all major radio and TV networks.

The President's decision to go before the people followed urgent consultations among top U. S. officials here and an exchange of several personal messages through diplomatic channels between Mr. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden.

Dismayed and Angry
American officials from the President down were dismayed and angry by the British-French decision to occupy the Suez Canal area without consultation with the United States. They frankly suspected collusion among Britain and France and Israel.

The White House did not indicate what the President will say. But Hagerty said a "his morning meeting with reporters that the country still stands by" the 1950 U. S.-British-French pledge to aid the victim of any aggression in the Middle East. The British and French say the pledge is no longer binding.

Hagerty was asked whether the United States has decided that Israel is an aggressor in the current situation. He replied that he had nothing to add to what U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said in the U. N. Security Council Tuesday.

UN Vetoes Split Western Big Three Attacks Follow Expiration Of Ultimatum

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — Anglo-French vetoes of United States proposals to end fighting in the Middle East confronted the "grand alliance" of the Western Big Three today with its most serious postwar diplomatic crisis.

The U. N. Security Council was scheduled to resume discussion today on the Israeli-Egyptian dispute and the related Anglo-French military actions.

In Cairo, an official spokesman said Egypt would demand an immediate meeting of the council to consider Israeli "aggression" in the Sinai Peninsula.

Use Veto Twice
Britain and France used their veto twice during Tuesday's tumultuous council sessions to block Security Council action which would have torpedoed their plans to move troops into strategic positions in the Suez Canal Zone.

Observers said the split among the Western Big Three was the most serious since World War II.

U. N. diplomats made plans to call the General Assembly into emergency session to deal with the British and French moves to occupy the canal zone. There is no veto in the assembly.

The strange proceedings that stretched through three council meetings, from Tuesday morning to shortly before midnight, found the Soviet Union aligned with the United States against Britain and France on a major international issue for the first time in U. N. history.

Brings Close Collaboration
And at one point, it brought close collaboration between Russia and Nationalist China, the delegation the Soviets usually ignore.

The Soviets accepted suggestions from the Chinese Nationalists in rewriting the cease-fire resolution.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who fought for adoption of the original measure which he introduced, explained he abstained because he believed the first proposal was a "unit and should have been considered as a whole."

The substitute, he said, "as a whole lacked the integrity we thought it should have."

Ridgway Man May Lose Eyes in Hunting Accident

RIDGWAY, Ill. — David Mayhue, 37, may have lost the sight of both eyes in a hunting accident Monday night. Carbide exploded while he was on an opossum hunting trip.

The Ridgway man spotted an opossum in a hole in a tree and poured carbide and water into the hole to form a gas which would drive out the animal. A carbide lamp on his cap ignited the carbide gas escaping from the hole and the explosion resulted.

Mayhue was taken to Pearce hospital in Eldorado where it was believed he may have lost sight in both eyes.

Cpl. Chas. Stiles, 23, of Eldorado, Killed in Accident

Cpl. Charles E. Stiles, 23, son of Mrs. Mary Stiles Moore of 1008 West street in Eldorado, was killed at 9 p. m. yesterday when his car overturned on old Ill. 40 about one mile west of Marshall, Ill.

A passenger, Mrs. Betty Worthington, 49, Evansville, Ind., was injured.

Cpl. Stiles was stationed at Fort Polk, La., with the U. S. Army.

The body is being returned to Eldorado by the Martin funeral service and will lie in state at the family residence. Funeral plans are incomplete.

Besides his mother he is survived by the following brothers and sisters: William Stiles, Evansville, Ind., Edwin of Chicago, and Philip who is with the Air Force in Japan; Mrs. Mae Kauble, Mrs. Anna Jones, Equality, Mrs. Fern Bean and Mrs. Edith Sullivan, both of Harrisburg. Mrs. Frances Bragg, Equality, Mrs. Jean Duffey, Mrs. Agnes Lane, Mrs. Pauline Jones, all of Gary, Ind., Mrs. Phyllis Klaffer, Lincoln, and Mrs. Anna Lee Hale of Paducah, Ky.

COULTERVILLE, Illinois (UP)—Eighteen-year-old Jerry Myron Largent of Greenville, a student at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, was killed early today when his car left Ill. 13 two miles east of here and wrapped around a tree.

State police said a tow truck had to pull the car from the tree so the youth's body could be removed from the auto.

President Tells Gov't Officials Not To Let Campaign Influence Policy

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower has instructed key government officials not to let the election campaign influence American policy or action in the Middle East crisis.

His attitude has been communicated in forceful terms to upper administration echelons.

So much was the President himself occupied with the Middle East fighting that some of his administration and political associates wondered how much more campaign activity he would undertake in behalf of his own election.

Cancels Aerial Tour
Before Israeli forces marched into Egypt, the President was scheduled to speak today in Texas, Oklahoma and Tennessee. The sudden flare-up of hostilities in the Middle East, however, caused him to cancel today's aerial stump tour.

Next major item on his political agenda was a scheduled campaign speech over nationwide television from Philadelphia Thursday night. The White House expected that it would be sometime today and possibly not until early Thursday before a decision could be made on whether he will keep his Philadelphia engagement.

Most GOP strategists here seemed to believe the majority of voters would stick with Mr. Eisenhower in a time of threatening war because of his World War II military background, plus the experience of his four years in the White House.

Counter to this political reasoning, however, was the insistent voice of Adlai E. Stevenson, arguing before campaign audiences that the administration bungled Middle East policy and failed to keep the public informed on the building danger of the situation.

President Herrin High School Board Of Education Dies

HERRIN, Ill. (UP) — The president of the Herrin Township High School Board of Education died Tuesday night in Herrin Hospital after suffering a heart attack during the afternoon.

M. W. Finney, 57, operated a news agency and was active in civic affairs. He was a past president of the Lions Club and the Crab Orchard Sportsman's Assn. Funeral services are scheduled Thursday.

Mrs. Tom Meler, 68, Dies; Funeral Services Thursday

She leaves her husband; two sons, Henry Meler of Gary, Ind., and J. C. Meler, Harrisburg; one daughter, Mrs. Audie Henshaw of Harrisburg; one sister, Mrs. Orpha Miller, Risco, Mo., and three brothers: Joe Jackson, Louie Jackson and David Jackson, all of Risco, Mo.; also six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The body lies in state in the chapel of Gibbons funeral home where services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. J. D. McCarty, assisted by Rev. William Dutton, will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Gardens.

RUSSIA CONDEMNS ANGLo-FRENCH ACTION
MOSCOW (UP)—Russia tonight formally condemned "the aggressive action" of Britain, France and Israel in attacking Egypt and called for immediate United Nations action to halt such "aggression."

The Foreign Office said it knew nothing more than what Cyprus Radio had broadcast.

Sirens Wail in Egypt
Arab-language broadcasts, not Egyptian, warned Egyptians to leave Cairo and Alexandria, the country's two largest cities.

Air raid sirens wailed and anti-aircraft guns barked in Cairo and Port Said earlier today, but no bombing was reported.

An unidentified reconnaissance aircraft flew high over Port Said, where only four ships were anchored waiting to transit the 101 mile canal. Many owners radioed their ships today to avoid the canal at all costs.

Announcement of the mounting attack against the Egyptian targets came only minutes after Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden had reiterated British and French determination to put troops into the vital canal zone.

But he said the way was "still open" to Egypt for peace.

Israeli announcements said Israeli troops had driven to within 10 miles of the Suez Canal in a major victory. A communique said that Israeli forces "virtually engulfed" Egyptian forces in the Biblical Sinai Desert.

A Propaganda Dud

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
There is, of course, nothing new in Soviet Premier Bulganin's latest proposal — President Eisenhower — translated by letter — that H-bomb tests be suspended.

What is different is its timing, and the fact that Bulganin chose to disclose it to the world via Moscow radio before the President had a chance to read it.

Since this procedure violated all normal and reasonable rules of diplomatic exchange, it is clear that propaganda, not progress in banning nuclear weapons, was Bulganin's main purpose.

We are accustomed to the Russians breaking over the traces for propaganda advantage. But this is the first time they have done it in such a way as to interfere in an American election.

In the light of the debate currently flaring between the President and Adlai Stevenson on the H-bomb, Bulganin could hardly have been unkind of the effect his proposal would have.

Both for this reason and because Bulganin delivered a patent insult by not waiting until the President had read his letter before releasing its contents, Mr. Eisenhower reacted with understandable irritation.

Stevenson says he is concerned that the President did not give the Soviet proposal "sober consideration." But reports from his headquarters indicate he agrees that the plans offers nothing new.

What really troubles him, his associates say, is his belief that Mr. Eisenhower seized upon the clumsily handled Bulganin letter as a "device" for distracting American voters' attention from the Stevenson suggestions for suspension of bomb tests.

It seems certain, however, that the controversy will in fact go raging on right down to the final ware.

The President's indignant reply to Bulganin may or may not serve his campaign purposes. But clearly it was dictated by the circumstances of the proposal's presentation. Bulganin deserved to be rebuked, whether or not the doing of it affects this campaign. It was the Soviet premier's fault, not Mr.
Eisenhower's, that the subject was injected as it was.

A Lingering Fear

If anyone imagines that fear ever quite leaves the heart of de-fected Communists, he need only read the story of the recent shooting in the apartment of Victor Kravchenko, former Soviet Army captain who left his job with the Soviet Purchasing Commission in 1945 and sought asylum here.

Kravchenko has written "I Chose Freedom" and other works. He has been involved in a major libel suit in Paris, brought by him. It is 11 years since he "came over." Yet on the occasion of the shooting incident, he was disclosed to be living under the protective name of "Peter Martin."

Two young men rang his apartment doorbell, suddenly seeking to get back into apartment they had visited earlier. Kravchenko stepped outside. An argument followed, leading to an exchange of blows. At this point, the Russian raced to his bedroom, grabbed a pistol and shot one of the men.

This can hardly be dismissed as just a fit of Russian temper. Kravchenko obviously was suspicious.
The Central Intelligence Agency was sufficiently concerned to ask police not to identify "Martin" as Kravchenko.

It's a dramatic lesson in the meaning of the Communist police state. Though they be at the ends of the earth, defectors never quite feel wholly safe. They dread that moment when, guard down, they may suddenly be struck down.

Washington Notebook

Adaptable Slogan — Turned Tables — Party Angels — Historical Possibility

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The
"Peace, Prosperity, Progress" slogan that the Republicans adopted this year — and the Democrats were defeated on in 1920 — is being twisted into many variations. In a poll of newspaper editors on the principal issues of the 1956 campaign, these adaptations were listed:

"Peace, Prosperity and Leave Well Enough Alone" — Marion, Ill., Daily Republican.

"Prosperity, Segregation, Peace" — Alexandria, La. Town Talk.

"Peace, Prosperity and States' Rights" — Suffolk, Va., News-Herald.

"Farm Income, Peace, Prosperity" — Mount Vernon, O., News.

"Peace, Farm Program, Inflation" — Coshocton, O., Tribune.

"Peace, Prosperity and the Middle of the Road" — Waukegan, Ill., News-Sun.

"Peace Prosperity and Honesty in Government at Washington" — Sterling, Ill., Gazette.

"Peace, Prosperity, Foreign Policy" — Maryville, Mo., Forum.

"Peace, Prosperity, Foreign Aid" — Tiffin, O., Advertiser-Tribune.

"Peace, Prosperity, Free Enterprise" — Independence, Kans.
Daily Reporter.

"Peace, Prosperity and Eisenhower's Health" — Milford, Mass., News.

"Peace, Prosperity, Nixon" —
Albany, N. Y., Knickerbocker
News.

"Peace, Prosperity and Lack of Fundamental Differences Between the Two Major Parties" — Newburgh, N. Y. News.

PERHAPS the queerest twist in campaign oratory this year has been the Republican effort to blame the Democrats for the great depression of the 1930's.

Heretofore it has always been the Democrats who blamed the mistakes of Republican administrations in the 1920's for the depression.

The revised Republican version of this as exemplified by ex-Gov. Tom Dewey of New York, is that there was a worldwide depression in 1929 and 1930, with which the GOP had nothing to do.

Then in 1933 the Democrats took over. They worked six years and still couldn't put the country back on its feet. They had to get the country into World War II to restore prosperity.

ONE OF THE differences between Republican millionaires and Democratic millionaires seems to be that the GOP rich men give big money to their party but don't go to their national conventions.

The Democrats' rich men go to their party conventions but don't contribute much money for its campaigns.

Republicans had a lot of fun at first, claiming that there were 300 millionaires at the Democratic convention in Chicago.
Later they cut the figure to 130.
On a showdown, they were able to come up with the names of fewer than 30.

Announce Exams for Positions with U. S. Civil Service

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced examinations for filling the following positions:

Investigator, paying from $5,440 to $11,610 a year, in the optional fields of personnel, criminal, and general investigations. Positions are in various agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity.

Engineering Student Trainee, paying $3,175 and $3,415 a year, for duty with the Bureau of Reclamation and other agencies in Western States and Alaska.

Procurement Specialist, paying from $4,525 to $11,610 a year for duty with the Navy Department and other agencies in the Washington, D. C., area.

Accountant and Auditor, paying $3,670 a year, for employment with the General Accounting Office, the Department of Defense, the Internal Revenue Service, and other agencies in Washington, D.
C., and throughout the United States.

Mediator, $6,390 a year for duty with the National Mediation Board headquarters in Washington, D. C.
Travel throughout the United States is required. The closing date for acceptance of applications is January 4, 1957.

With the exception of the Mediator, all are open for receipt of applications until further notice.

THE STATES' RIGHTS, third party movement supporting independent electors for T. Coleman Andrews and Thomas H.
Wardell for president and vice-president is now on the ballot in 14 states with a total of 154 electoral votes. There may be additional write-in votes in the other 34 states, but under most state laws they won't be counted.

The most the States' Rights party hopes to do this year is run up a sizable protest vote against both major parties. Political experts don't give the third party a chance of carrying even one state. And even if it won all 14 states in which its electors are on the ballot, it wouldn't have much chance of throwing the election into the House of Representatives, which is its great ambition.

REPUBLICAN leader Joe Martin committed the most famous slip of the tongue in this campaign at a hundred-dollar-a-plate testimonial dinner given in his honor at the Statler Hotel in Washington. The affair was held the same night that President Eisenhower made his speech at Madison Square Garden in New York. A big-screen live telecast of the President's speech was brought to the Martin dinner.
Introducing this event, Rep. Martin said, "You will now see our great President in his Madison Avenue appearance."

TWINS ENLIST IN ARMY—Joe (left) and Roe Simmons, sons of Edgar Simmons of Broughton, entered the Army Oct. 25 on three-year enlistments and are at present at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., for eight weeks of basic. Following their basic training they will report after a two-week leave at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., where they will enter the Army finance school. They graduated from the Chester high school last year and enlisted in the Army at the local recruiting office. They are grandsons of Mr. and Mrs.
R. S. Rhine of Eldorado. (Ronnie's Studio Photos)

The Daily Register 30c a week

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Patterns on the wallpaper sometimes bother us because they are too flamboyant. The bold designs and the bright colors stir up a feeling of claustrophobia. We feel closed in by the contrast of the wallpaper and the personal feeling of smallness of our own way of life.

Likewise, intricate small patterns on the wall distort our sense of color. We follow the lines from corner to corner and become mentally lost as a rat must feel in searching for the right way through a maze.

Even a blank wall can create frustration when we are bored with circumstances. A person who lies endlessly in a hospital bed longs to have a long brush and to paint pictures on the wall and ceiling. He feels that the blankness could be transformed into something meaningful.

All of us want to project something of ourselves onto our surroundings. We do not wish to pass through our days of life without leaving some impression of having been there. Furthermore, we do not want to merely follow the lines of a complex society.

We cannot live from moment to moment trapped by bold circumstances, circumscribed by trivia nor surrounded by a meaningless void. Fortunately we have the freedom to influence our surroundings and other people by the way we live.

Our love, our faith, our hopes and our prayers influence others.
Let us live creatively.

Gov't Plans Pork Buying Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today it will begin a pork purchase program next week to stabilize the market price of live hogs.

The pork purchase program, coming on top of a lard buying program announced Oct. 2, will make 100 million dollars in federal funds available for stabilizing hog prices during the current heavy marketing period.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said he also had been informed that the Army is planning to step up its procurement of pork and pork products during the next 60 days.

Pork products to be purchased are lunch meat processed from shoulders, hams, or loins; canned pork and gravy, from loins and hams, and canned hams.

Farm Prices Drop Slightly

WASHINGTON — Farm prices, an important issue in the election campaign, dropped one per cent in the month ended Oct. 15.

The Agriculture Department, in its monthly price report issued Tuesday, said the decline in prices farmers received was due to lower prices for meat animals, corn, potatoes, poultry, eggs and cotton. These more than offset higher prices received for dairy products, some vegetables, cottonseed, and wheat.

Within minutes after the report was issued, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson interrupted a campaign tour at Corydon, Ind., to telephone the department his comment on the farm price situation.

He said the decline was "slight" and was due to normal heavy marketing at this time of year. He said farm income for the third quarter was 8 percent above that for the same period a year ago and for the full year should be above 1955 because of this year's larger volume.

Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said the price decline "lifts the veil off the rosy campaign statements by President Eisenhower and Secretary Benson and reveals the Eisenhower-Benson farm program for what it is—a failure."

Report Tonight By Eisenhower

Foster Dulles for 40 minutes on the Middle East situation this morning.

Both Mr. Eisenhower and Dulles were reported extremely angry over what U. S. officials regarded as evident collusion among Britain, France, and Israel in secretly planning the sudden Israeli invasion of the Sinai Peninsula and the British-French move to occupy the Suez Canal Zone.

U. S. officials at every level were openly bitter about the fact that the British and French decision to move into Suez was taken behind the United States' back. American officials said bluntly that the grand alliance with Britain and France was under the greatest strain it had ever faced.

They also said this country has sternly warned Britain and France in diplomatic messages that their military action may spark a major war and that they cannot count on the United States to bail them out.

It was not clear what action the United States will take next in the Middle East crisis. But Hagerty said top administration officials have begun work on "government problems and studies in connection with the current situation in the Middle East that the President has asked for."

Not Studying Special Session

These officials include Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming, Presidential Aide Sherman Adams and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons.

Hagerty said that he could not now give any details of the specific subjects being considered by the top officials. But he said that it did not involve the question of whether to call Congress into special session.

The officials met for two hours at the White House this morning, and Hagerty said they would meet again later today and Thursday.

Hagerty said there might be a statement by President Eisenhower later today on the Middle East crisis.

The Egyptian embassy here announced that Egyptian Premier Gamel Abdel Nasser sent Mr. Eisenhower a personal message Tuesday "giving him a detailed picture of the present state of affairs in the Middle East."

Dulles expressed to the top ranking British and French diplomats Tuesday his extreme displeasure over British and French failure to consult the United States on their troop movement plan.

FPC Approves Gas Application by City of Pinckneyville

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission has approved an application by the city of Pinckneyville, Ill., for purchase of 272,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily from the Texas-Illinois Pipeline Co., Chicago.

The city said it needed the gas for a new record company plant. The FPC issued its decision when the Illinois Power Co. withdrew an application to consolidate the Pinckneyville request with another application for the same gas filed by the power company.

The power company still has an application pending to purchase gas from Texas-Illinois, but no action has been taken on it.

U. S. Steps Up Evacuation

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt — The United States rushed additional transports to Egypt today to step up the evacuation of American citizens in the steadily deteriorating situation in the Middle East.

The American Export liner Exochorda sailed from Alexandria for Naples this morning with 400 evacuees. The U. S. embassy in Cairo said five naval auxiliary transports had arrived to evacuate Americans getting out of Egypt on the "urgent" advice of the U. S. State Department.

The embassy said staff personnel are alerting the 1,600 Americans still in Egypt. More than 1,000 living in Cairo will be transported in a convoy to Alexandria tonight. All were advised to remain indoors meantime.

Attend Florist Ass'n School of Christmas Design at Chicago

The annual Illinois Allied Florist association's school of Christmas design was held at the International Amphitheatre in Chicago Saturday and Sunday. In attendance were 4,000 florists which was the largest school that has ever been held of this kind.

Present from Saline county were Mrs. Sarah Davenport from the Davenport Post shop, Mrs. Dayton Ford, from Ford Flower shop, Harrisburg, Mrs. Earl Spears, from Spears' Flower shop, Carrier Mills, and Mrs. Bess Adams from the Adams Flower shop in Eldorado.

Ten of the foremost floral designers in the United States lectured and demonstrated on the latest fashions in designing Christmas decorations and wedding and funeral flower designs.

Clarence Heath, Gallatin County Farmer, Dies

Clarence Heath, Gallatin county farmer who lived east of Ridgway, died last night in the Welborn Baptist hospital in Evansville, Ind.

He leaves his wife, Anna; one daughter, Mrs. Barbara Bagwell, and two sons, Freddie and Jack, at home.

The body is at the Smith and Edwards funeral home in Ridgway and funeral plans are incomplete.

Kiwanians Given Pointers for Salesmanship

Points in salesmanship were explained to members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple by Walter Elder of the Business School of Southern Illinois University.

Mr. Elder was a special guest of the club. Also guests were Frank Stanberg of the Small Business Institute of SIU and Tom Easterly of Carbondale.

Points on salesmanship advised by Mr. Elder were:

1—"Sell the sizzle, not the steak," or selling the benefits of the article and what the customer is going to get out of it;

2—"Say it with flowers." Demonstrate the claims for the article being sold;

3—"Boil it down to the fewest possible words";

4—"Give the customer a choice; 5—"Watch your bark." Speak low and seriously and spread your enthusiasm.

Salesmanship, stated Mr. Elder, is something everyone uses every day, and everyone should learn something about it.

President Ronnie Doerge announced the Key Club charter night scheduled for Tuesday evening, Nov. 6, has been postponed until Tuesday evening, Nov. 13. The club consists of boys at the high school, and parents and members of other clubs in the division are being invited to the charter night.

Doerge also announced a directors' meeting will be held tonight at Schnierle's cafe at 6 o'clock.

Firemen Eliminate Danger of Furnace Blast

The fire department made a run around 4 p. m. yesterday to the Mitch Golish Music Co. on South Granger, where it was feared that an oil furnace would explode.

Fire Chief L. G. Martin said there was a possibility of a blast because the vent pipe was stopped up in an elbow. Firemen shut off the oil flow to eliminate the hazard.

Broadway Rites Near Eddyville Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary E. Broadway, Eddyville woman who died yesterday morning at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore, in the Waltersburg community, will be Thursday at 2 p. m. at New Liberty Presbyterian church south of Eddyville. Burial will be in the church cemetery. The body lies in state at the Moore home.

Centralia City Council Strips Mayor of Powers

CENTRALIA, Ill. — A feud between city commissioners and Mayor H. B. Blanchard has stripped the mayor of administrative powers except for directing tin can and garbage collection.

The mayor cast the only dissenting vote as the council passed an ordinance for "reorganization of the council." Commissioners took over supervision of the police and fire departments, city health officer, city attorney, city clerk and department of public accounts.

Commissioners accused the mayor in a letter of opposing use of anticipated tax funds to pay city bills, balking at the purchase of a council-approved fire truck and negotiating for purchase of 200 parking meters without open bids.

The firm from which the council bought a fire truck six weeks ago filed suit Saturday for more than $11,000 to obtain its money. The city paid for the truck Tuesday and placed it in service.

Blanchard had opposed the purchase, preferring a more expensive fire truck, commissioners said.

The mayor declined comment on the reorganization except to say that he thinks the whole affair is a "mistake."

Floyd Rites Held At Carrier Mills

The funeral of Harlon O. Floyd, Carrier Mills resident who died in the Cook County hospital in Chicago Saturday afternoon, was held today at 2 p. m. at the Baptist church in East End. Rev. W. H. Hughes of Harrisburg officiated and interment was in Lakeview cemetery in Carrier Mills.

Worker Tumbles In Vat, Is Hacked to Death

JOLIET, Ill. — A paper plant worker was killed Tuesday night when he fell into a kettle and was hacked to death by paddles used to beat scrap paper into pulp.

The victim was Harlan Painter, 49, of near Joliet, an employee of the Prairie State Wall Paper mill. Authorities said he was working on a platform over the edge of the 15-by-12-foot vat and apparently tumbled in. His body was found at the bottom of the vat.

Revival Services to Begin at Ledford

Rev. L. C. Irby of Ridgway will be the evangelist for revival services to begin at the Ledford Baptist church Nov. 5. The pastor, Rev. Olen Clarida will lead the singing. Services will be held each evening at 7 o'clock.

Rail Worker Is Fatally Injured

PERU, Ind. — Fred Cauley, 72, a Wabash railroad worker, was fatally injured Tuesday when he was struck by a switch engine. Cauley, a native of Cairo, Ill., was found lying along the tracks by another worker. He suffered a skull fracture and other injuries.

XXXV

Free of the depressive mood engendered by the mass burial area, Buyers became talkative. Unaware of his own change in mood, unaware of his pride in Harrington's fierce struggle to regain function, he talked absent-mindedly to the corporal at his side. The corporal, normally a gregarious young man, had been shocked by what he had only recently seen. He listened avidly to Buyers' words, hoping to find in the knowing conversation of the elder at his side some reason or rationalization. His comments were of the "Yes, sir" and "No, sir" variety. He was beyond the use of words.

Buyers leaned forward eagerly from the jeep. "Look at it, son!" he said. He pointed at the wheeled bulldozers, savoring the sound of the engines, the crack of hammers, the whine of power saws and drills. "There's the answer to making a city live!" He was almost shouting.

"A place to live, to sleep, to eat, to call home, no matter how small, or crowded. That's the answer!" He swept his arm in an all-encompassing motion which took in the shattered city.

"Get the people back into their city. That's the key to reconstruction, to survival.

"All those people who ran like crazy animals into the countryside. Safety! Hah! There's no safety in open country, with only a frozen field for a bed, a table, a toilet. There's no food to be had when a mob sweeps the countryside, no law, nor order, no warmth, no friendliness.

"Oh, they'll come back! Tired, cold, frightened, ashamed that they ran like whipped dogs with their tails tucked between their legs. They'll come back, to grub in the wreckage of their homes, to hunt for a useless trinket, or an old picture of a loved one, only we won't let them grub and dig in the ground."

He jabbed his finger in the direction of the quonsets already assembled. "Give 'em a place to rest, to call home, and they'll stay when they come back. Give them work to do... make them work... feed them, send their kids to school.

"Because if we don't, they'll grub like animals, live in the wreckage of their homes like rats.

"This way, boy," he was almost fervent now, "we'll keep this city from going all to pieces. No matter how bad this city has been hurt, we'll give it the means to live again."

Even as the colonel and his singular audience watched the machines and the men labor, utilities crews carved their way into the earth and rock of Harrington. Water mains were checked, valves reopened, pressure restored. Housewives showed pleased expressions as the faucet taps gurgled, hissed the clearing air, and poured sparkling liquid into the sinks.

The city hummed, stirred, arose from its devastation and began to live. There were unpleasant matters to attend to. In the city's jail were 43 men and women; 16 of these, however, were corpses, shot to death last night, caught red-handed in the act of looting. Grubbing in the devastated homes; rifling the pockets of the bloodied unconscious and the killed. The live prisoners would spend many years behind bars.

The third edition of Harrington's emergency newspaper passed from hand to hand. A single, large sheet, with printing crammed into every available inch of space on both sides, hurriedly rushed off the presses to convey accurate information and instructions to the city.

The paper was a conveyor of mixed tidings. It spoke of aid coming into the city, of reconstruction, of the determination to keep Harrington alive. It listed, also, the present casualty toll of 168,913 dead and missing.

The great Eastern Electric factory was a tangled shambles, still too hot to approach, still within the dying yet fearful heat of the firestorm. The destruction of the great plant was a serious blow to the nation's electronics production, but not an irreparable loss. Even now the supplies for the factory were redirected to nearby plants.

Thousands of men poured into the sprawling works of the Olympus Jet Corporation, voluntarily working 12 and 18-hour shifts, laboring overtime until full complements of skilled tradesmen and machinists were available to maintain round-the-clock production. The shining, powerful jet engines rolled down the production lines.

Army ordnance experts swarmed into Harrington's small but critical nut-and-bolt factory, which had become one of the nation's key sources for critical tank and gun parts. Cargo planes stood at readiness on Logan Airport, waiting to transport immediately the precision parts from the plant to waiting factories.

Only last night the machines of the factory had been threatened by devastating fire. There was in this vital single factory, an effective, working, internal-disaster organization. Exactly 14 hours after the attack, maximum production was resumed.

However, death and flaming destruction still existed within Harrington. Horror stalked the streets with the great reconstruction effort, for the workers often discovered, as they toiled, the grisly remains of the buried dead in the collapsed homes and buildings. Dust, smoke, debris were everywhere, and the devastating impact of the steadily climbing death toll was a black shroud from which no man could hide.

Pioneers for Christ Youth Rally Saturday

The third annual Pioneers for Christ youth rally, sponsored by the Lakes District of the American Sunday School Union, will be held Saturday, Nov. 3, at a campsite near Mt. Vernon, Ill.

The first rally in southern Illinois was held at Eldorado under the direction of the Rev. James G. Johnson. The second rally was at Giant City park under the direction of the Rev. Fred G. Atig. This year the rally is under the direction of the Rev. Leroy Cunningham of Mt. Vernon at the contemplated campsite for rural youth of the American Sunday School Union.

The average attendance at these rallies has been 55 with young people coming from as much as 250 miles to attend.

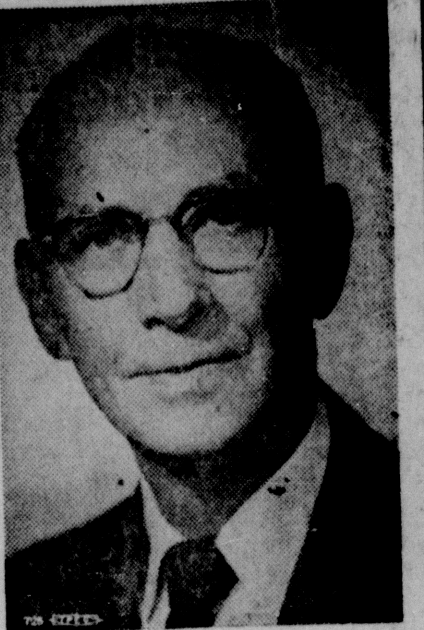

The outdoor rally will begin at 9 a. m. with Bible classes, special speakers, music and recreation.

For further information contact the Rev. Leroy Cunningham, RFD 5, Mt. Vernon, or the Rev. James G. Johnson, 1513 Olive street, Eldorado.

Young people in this area who need transportation or adults who wish to provide a car to take the young people are asked to meet at the Eldorado city hall at 7:30 a. m. Saturday.

Miss Eva Lawanda Cook, Frank Dewayne McDaniel Exchange Wedding Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dewayne McDaniel
(Foster Studio Photo)

Before an altar draped in white and centered with an arch entwined with jade and emerald palms, Miss Eva Lawanda Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Cook of 9 East O'Gara, and Frank Dewayne McDaniel, son of Mrs. Lorene McDaniel of Carrier Mills, exchanged wedding vows read by the Rev. Cronk of Carrier Mills.

The double ring ceremony took place Saturday, Oct. 20, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the First Church of the Nazarene in Harrisburg.

Two large standards of white chrysanthemums and white stoch flanked by candelabra containing 42 lighted tapers added to the altar decoration.

The bride chose for her wedding a floor length gown of white satin with an overskirt of lace and nylon tulle. The bodice of lace was designed with a high stand-up collar and long sleeves which came to a point over the hand. A panel of lace extended from the waistline to the hem of the gown.

Her veil of illusion was secured to a crown of lace, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white shasta daisies and fuji mums intermingled with silver.

Miss Silvia McDaniel, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor wearing a sky blue floor length gown and carrying a bouquet of white chrysanthemum buttons.

Sidney and Marbeth Skelly, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Gurn Skelly, were flower girls. They wore pink gowns and carried white baskets filled with rose petals.

Joe Farquer, Finley Park, Ill., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Philip Hutchinson was ring bearer and Veral Smith and Junior Neighbors served as ushers.

Mrs. Barbara Cooper, pianist, accompanied Miss Linda Hughes who sang "I Love You Truly," "A-ways," and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

Both mothers were dressed in navy blue and wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where wedding cake and punch were served and where the bride and groom received many lovely gifts.

Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Cook, Mrs. Oscar Hutchinson, Mrs. Delana Bourland and Mrs. Hugh Travelstead.

The bride attended the Harrisburg Township high school and the bridegroom is a graduate of the Carrier Mills Community high school. He is employed by the Reynolds Aluminum company in Chicago. They are making their home in Lyons, Ill.

Outstanding Members Honored at Gallatin 4-H Achievement Program

Four agricultural 4-H club members were honored for outstanding club work at the annual Gallatin County 4-H Achievement program held in the Ridgway grade school gym Tuesday night, Oct. 30, according to Farm Adviser Earl M. Lutz.

Those who were given state outstanding member certificates were Kenneth Abell, John Edward Hish Jr., Robert E. Wargel and Larry Wilson. State outstanding members were selected on leadership and project work during all of the years they have been in club work, Mr. Lutz explained.

The same four boys received state project honor certificates for outstanding work in one project. Edward Hish was one of fifty club members in the state to be awarded an official 4-H jacket for excellent work in the 4-H electricity project. Hish has been enrolled in the electricity project for the past four years. The jacket was given by the Illinois Farm Electric Council.

County outstanding members in addition to those listed above were Bobby Cox, Patrick J. Lawler, and Sally West. Other county project honor members were Billy Bradley, Jerry Cox, Bobby Cox, Roger Downey, Tom Goforth, Alice Hale, James Milligan Jr., David E. Patton, Charles Stennett, Sally West and Chuckie Varner.

The five-year gold pins for five years of achievement were awarded to David Fromm, Carl Fromm, Leonard Bruce, Danny Drone, Walter Drone, Gordon Smith, Patricia Smith, Jenny Lu Scates, Robert Wargel, Gene Crawford and Edward Hish.

Receiving six-year gold guards for six years of achievement work were Larry Bruce, Charles McGuire, Andy Downen, Larry Wilson and Lois Lee Jones.

Seven-year numerals were won by Janice Ande, and Raymond Abell.

Those who were honored for having completed eight successful years in club work were Gary Wilson, Ritha Teegarden, David E. Patton and Pat Lawler.

Mary Kay Jones has been in club work for ten years. The agricultural "Club of the Year" plaque, donated by the Illinois Agricultural association, was awarded to the Young Bachelors club led by Gene Foster. Asbury club, led by James A. Wilson, has won the award the past four successive years.

Delegates to the State Junior Leadership conference in 1957 are to be John Edward Hish Jr. and Robert E. Wargel of the Young Bachelors and Triple E clubs respectively. Alternates are Kenneth Abell, Raymond Abell and Gordon Smith.

Soviets Ready to Discuss Troop Withdrawals

MOSCOW — The Soviet Union says it is ready to discuss the withdrawal of all Soviet forces from Hungary, Poland and Romania.

The sweeping declaration was contained in a formal government statement issued Tuesday night regarding the Soviet's relations with its Communist neighbors.

It said continued presence of Soviet troops in Hungary could lead to "greater deterioration" of the situation there and that discussions should be opened on "whether a further stay of U.S.S.R. advisers in these countries is expedient."

Faced with the Hungarian rebellion and opposition to old Communist ties in Poland, Russia drastically revised its entire military, political and economic policy toward the other nations in the Communist camp.

The new government view was also believed to extend to East Germany, Bulgaria, Albania and Communist China. But the immediate consideration appeared to be the question of Soviet troops in the East European satellite countries.

Illinois' Abe Woodson Named UP Back of Week

CHICAGO — A "bread and butter" back turned into the frosting on the cake when he led Illinois to a 20-13 upset over Michigan State to become the United Press Midwest back of the week.

Abe Woodson, an easy-going Chicago boy who played hard only when he had to, turned into a ball of fire to knock out the nation's No. 1 team and bring back memories of other Illinois greats such as Red Grange and J. C. Caroline.

"Abe finally realized he can be a great football player," said Ray Eliot, Illinois coach, in commenting on Woodson's three touchdown runs which included sprints of 70 and 82 yards.

"Woodson never had a day like Saturday," Eliot said. "It's the best game he ever played."

On his second sensational dash toward the Spartan goal line, Woodson hurdled the last tackler near the 50 and sped uninterrupted for the score.

"That hurdling experience comes in handy," said a breathless Woodson after the game. The 22-year-old graduate of Austin high school on Chicago's West Side has twice tied the world record in the 50 yard hurdles and is a standout performer on the Illinois track squad.

Woodson, a heavily-muscled athlete standing 6-foot 1-inch and weighing 188 pounds, is a senior. In two seasons with the Illini he has logged 529 minutes of playing time, but he was always overshadowed by Caroline in 1954 and then Harry Jefferson and Bob Mitchell.

When the season started he wasn't even a first string halfback. He moved up into the starting spot when Mitchell and then Jefferson suffered injuries, although as Eliot says now, "he probably would have beat one of them out anyway."

Game of the Week
Navy over Notre Dame—Terry Brennan hasn't given up on the Irish and this may be the week they get started. But Navy has been coming rapidly and, if they're ever going to win this one, now's the time.

The East
Army over Colgate—Too much speed.
Syracuse over Penn State—Can't even see it as a tossup.

Yale over Dartmouth—Rolling strong here.
Princeton over Brown—A runaway.

Also: Cornell over Columbia, Harvard over Penn, Villanova over Boston College, Boston U. over Holy Cross, Lafayette over Rutgers, Lehigh over Temple, Bucknell over Buffalo and Connecticut over Miami.

The Midwest
Minnesota over Pitt—If they don't let down.

Oklahoma over Colorado—Sheer moider.

Michigan over Iowa—But those Hawkeyes are hungry.

Michigan State over Wisconsin—Too rapid.

Also: Ohio State over Northwestern, Purdue over Illinois, Indiana over Marquette, Missouri over Nebraska, Kansas over Kansas State, Iowa State over Drake and Detroit over Cincinnati.

The South
Georgia Tech over Duke—By a pair.

Maryland over Kentucky—The blueplate special.

Tennessee over North Carolina—Handily.

Clemson over VPI—A rowdy contest.

Also: Mississippi over LSU, Georgia over Alabama, Tulane over Mississippi State, Miami over Florida State, Florida over Auburn, Wake Forest over North Carolina State, West Virginia over George Washington, Vanderbilt over Virginia and W&M over VMI.

The Southwest
Texas over SMU—Just gotta win one soon.

TCU over Baylor—A ruff'n.

Texas Aggies over Arkansas—Murder at home.

Rice over Utah—Or I quite completely.

Also: Oklahoma Aggies over Texas Tech, Temple State over San Diego, West Texas State over Arizona, Texas Western over Hardin-Simmons and COP over Tulsa.

Sooners Tops in Yardage, Scoring

NEW YORK — Oklahoma, the nation's top team also leads the country's college football teams in points scored and yardage gained.

The Sooners, after completing half of their 10-game schedule, have averaged 44.2 points a game while compiling an average of 414.6 yards per contest.

Navy is the only other team to average over 400 yards a game with 404.6. The Midshipmen ran past Pennsylvania last Saturday for 488 yards, enabling them to move from sixth to second place in a week. Completing the top five in total offense are Southern California, Washington State and Hardin-Simmons.

Oklahoma has also demonstrated the best running attack among major schools with a 346.6 per game average. More than 30 yards behind the Sooners in second place is Southern California followed by Ohio State, Army and Virginia Tech.

Pacific Coast teams have taken a strong hold on forward pass honors. Washington State leads the country with an aerial average of 234 yards per game. Trailing the Cougars are Stanford, San Jose State, College of Pacific and the lone Eastern entry, Navy.

Eliot is Named Coach of Week

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — On the land where his football team now performs with such valour, there once roved a tribe of Indians.

They were the Illini, a name which means "brave men." And he thinks no football team ever was named more appropriately than the "fighting Illini" of Illinois.

He's the United Press coach of the week, Ray Eliot, that old master of the upset, whose latest triumph was a 20-13 deflation of the nation's number one team, Michigan State.

"I'm gratified but you ought to have another award for my boys," he said. "Because they sure are the players of the week. They did a marvelous job—the finest we've done all season."

Eliot has had far more powerful teams than the current one which has lost two Big Ten conference games and has only a long-shot chance for the title and a trip to the Rose Bowl.

Realistically, he says, it would be foolish even to rate his club as a "sleeper" in conference play.

"One game doesn't make a season," he declared. "We've lost to two fine teams, Ohio State and Minnesota, and we also were defeated outside the conference by Washington. We'll be thankful from now on for anything we can get. We're far from a seasoned team. All we have is youngsters just willing to get out there and play their hearts out."

Ebbets Field Sold For Housing Development

NEW YORK — Ebbets Field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers since 1913, will be converted into a middle income housing development—but not for a few years.

The Dodgers sold the ball park to real estate investor Marvin Kratter Tuesday but protected themselves by retaining an option to play at Ebbets Field through 1961 if plans for a new park fail to work out.

The exact purchase price was not announced but it was believed it was upward of $2 million.

Son of Former Formosa Governor Forced to Quit As Fraternity Pledge

EVANSTON, Ill. — The son of former Formosa governor K. C. Wu was forced to resign as a Northwestern University fraternity pledge because of his nationality, he said today.

Sherman Wu, 19, said he quit pledging Psi Upsilon Fraternity because "they told me I would degrade their house because I am a Chinese."

Chapter President Jack H. Lageschulte, 20, Barrington, Ill., defended the fraternity's action, which he said was taken "because we felt he would be a detriment."

Lageschulte said seven freshmen refused to pledge as long as Wu was associated with the fraternity.

New York Giants Sign Hank Sauer

NEW YORK — The New York Giants signed 37-year-old Hank Sauer Tuesday as a pinch-hitter and spare outfielder.

Sauer, who was the National League's most valuable player in 1952, knocked in 75 runs and hit .298 for the St. Louis Cardinals this year but was given his unconditional release at the close of the season.

Washington Club Officially Senators

WASHINGTON — From now on you can start calling the Washington baseball club the "Senators," in case, that is, you've been calling them the "Nationals" all along.

Club President Calvin Griffith officially changed the team's nickname Tuesday from the "Nationals" to the "Senators."
